Academic Courses

Active Learning for Little Ones

(Those not having completed the first grade)

Phonics, reading fluency, listening skills, number concepts and operations are the basic ingredients of these classes. We've added a touch of music, great literature, lots of opportunity for creative expression and mixed it with a large helping of fun and friendliness to create a wonderful, productive morning for preschool and kindergarten age children. (Minimum four years old)

Language Arts (Students who have completed the first grade)

Students work in small groups to increase vocabulary and improve writing skills. Innovative, multi-sensory teaching techniques and practice, practice, practice make this fast moving class exciting and effective.

Math

(Students who have completed the first grade)

Students work individually on their own custom-designed projects to meet their unique math goals. Focusing only on the specific skills and concepts insures that students efficiently improve math understanding and performance.

Science/Social Studies

(Students who have completed the first grade)

These highly interactive classes include an array of age-appropriate academic activities offering intellectual stimulation and excitement every day. Students conduct experiments and discover how the scientific method works. These are hands-on classes where each lesson leads to new insights.

Throughout the week students learn interesting facts about the designated country, learn to cook foods popular in that country, memorize words/phrases in the country's language, practice some popular traditional sports/games, do folk arts and crafts, etc. Also, each week students communicate their experiences in a journal ('passport').
